Dear Parents, Students and Friends of Cheltenham Primary School

It is with great pride that I write my first newsletter as substantive Principal of Cheltenham Primary School. I continue to be inspired by the level of support and enthusiasm our staff and community has to provide exemplary opportunities for all our children. Teaching and the work we do in schools is centred on developing lifelong learning. As your Principal I am committed to continuing to build our learning culture at Cheltenham, seeking out challenges both locally and nationally, to ensure that all our children are supported to enhance their personal learning capabilities in order to develop themselves as individuals - academically, physically, socially and emotionally - to achieve their highest potential. I look forward to continuing to work with all in our community: School Council, PTFA, our dedicated and caring staff, families and community partners to achieve this goal.

I am a passionate teacher and my educational philosophy is based on developing a learning culture that is about growth, creativity and innovation. In such a culture, this begins with our students; understanding what they are interested in, what excites them, what they are capable of and how they learn. Our new STEAM framework is designed to foster in our students, a love of learning and to develop their capacity to be self-motivated, independent learners. Every day I am fortunate to see our children excelling in what they do – as they engage actively as learners and contributors in classes, and as caring and responsible young people.

Last term students in our Senior School were studying issues of Global Concern. They implemented various actions to address these; including raising much needed funds through a highly successful Cake Stall which raised $1800.19. At the end of term they presented their learning to their families and our community in a Learning Expo. A number of children also submitted pieces of persuasive writing to Bronwyn Moline and I to advocate where this funding might best be directed. Bronwyn and I read these carefully over the holidays and met early last week to determine the outcome. We were so impressed by the power of the children’s writing, their research skills and passionate commitment to each charity that we could not separate our top four writing pieces. I am delighted to announce that the $1800.19 will be shared equally between Care Australia, One Girl, Save the Children and The World Wildlife Fund. Congratulations to Scarlett, Ethan and Sam, Tahlia and Ashley. I have included the children’s writing in this week’s Orchid for you all to read. I hope that some of you will be inspired as I was, to donate to one of these very worthwhile causes.

In conclusion, congratulations to the PTFA on the highly successful Junior/Senior Discos and ‘Tuesday Treat’ (Gelato) events. What a wonderful way for our children to re-engage in school through these shared experiences with the staff and members of our community.

All labour that uplifts humanity has dignity and importance and should be undertaken with painstaking excellence.

YOU CAN DO IT

This term our foundation is Resilience. Being resilient means keeping positive and not thinking badly of yourself if you make a mistake. It means trying not to worry and believing in yourself. It means thinking you are more likely to succeed than fail. When you are resilient you are able to calm down quickly when you are upset, angry or worried. If you are resilient you can bounce back and get on with your work or play no matter what has happened. These students have won YCDI awards this week!

This qualifies all three students for the Regional Athletics Carnival on Thursday, 13th October. These are outstanding achievements which all students should be proud of.

Well done to all our students on their exemplary behaviour and performance on the day as getting to Division shows outstanding skills and dedication.

Thank you to all the parents who supported the children through driving, supervising and cheering.

LIBRARY NEWS

Good news in our Library. We now have a sophisticated new library system provider called Oliver. This system makes learning about the library and finding resources much easier for students. In addition, Oliver has the capability to deliver 24/7 E-Books. This E-Book project will be developed over the next 12 months. Next year students who have access to an E-Reader device will be able to access 24/7 E-Books to read at home, in school or even on holidays.

We have reached the final stages of the We have reached the final stages of the YABBA awards which we began in Term 2. Students in Year Prep to Four have read, discussed and judged their favourite books from all 10 picture book finalists. Final data submissions will go to YABBA for the official count this week. All students participated avidly and contributed to an enjoyable activity. Please see future newsletters for updates.

Book Club

Apologies to the many students and parents who placed a Book Club order last term. Carnival Book Club has informed me that delivery will be next week. Apparently some communication errors occurred which affected the picking and packing of orders. Please accept my apologies also.

From this term onwards we are returning to Scholastic Book Club. Scholastic Book Club ensures prompt service from order placement (this is when I place the order, which is the final date for book club orders) and back orders are clearly notified and come with a consolation read. So look out for the catalogue coming soon.

Dear Teachers,

Mission Australia, Greenpeace, world vision, these are all important charities to donate towards but they are nowhere near as important as the World Wildlife Fund for nature. The WWF helps preserve nature and conserve animal species. Without nature and animals, humans can’t survive. As you can see, this is a very important charity.

Whether it’s saving the elephants in India, the Rhinos in Africa or the Tigers in Indonesia, the WWF are on it. WWF have already helped save some species such as the African Black Rhino, the Black Bucks (otherwise known as the Indian antelope) and they have also helped the Giant Panda change its status from Endangered to Vulnerable. With the money we provide, WWF will be able to be able to help save lots of other species.

85% of the money we donate to the World Wildlife Fund will go towards conserving nature and animals. Compared to other charities, this is a very high percentage of money that actually goes towards saving the animal species. Only 10% of the money we donate would go to fundraising, and the last 5% would go to finance and administration.

Imagine a world without food, fresh water, forests, wildlife, if we don’t act soon this is what the earth will become, a wasteland. With over 5 million volunteers, the WWF is the most well known animal conservation charity and more people will donate to the World Wildlife Fund for Nature, therefore, the money will make more of an impact on our wildlife.

The obvious choice is that the money our school raises should go towards the World Wildlife Fund for Nature. The WWF is trying to save the most important things on our earth and Cheltenham Primary School needs to help. The world needs saving. Now.

Dear Ms. Morgan and Mrs. Moline,

Do you hear that? It's the sound of a child, crying. He's lonely, hurt and defenceless. Starving half to death, shivering in the cold. Would you want to be like this as a child? Being walked past, unseen like a ghost. Being treated like dirt. This is the life of not one, but one billion children worldwide. This is reality, yet, you mightn't of known this.

Luckily, there are charities like Save the Children that are here to make children who need help, a thing of the past. Save the Children have proudly helped 38 million children each and every year since 1919.

Many charities waste more than 75% of their donations on advertisement. Save the Children, on the other hand, only use 19% of their donations on advertisement. 81% of the money goes directly to the cause.

Even though Save the Children isn’t the most well known charity, every dollar they receive counts. Only $20 could buy 20,000 litres of safe drinkable water. Poverty is consuming the lives of children, water can help them live. What's more, if we raised money, we could send a couple kids to school.

It's your choice, but saving the lives of children ensures a happy, healthy generation for the future. What's more, everyone needs a chance.

Your sincerely
Ethan Ge and Sam Kilburn

Dear Ms. Morgan, Ms. Moline and Miss. Hollowood,

I really think that some of the money we earn at the cakes and craft stall should go to the One Girl foundation.

One Girl is a great foundation. They help girls in Africa who are less fortunate than us get a chance to go to school and learn, because a girl's education can do a lot for her later in life. For example, every year a girls stays in school, her income will increase by 10-20%!

Many fundraisers and charities send some of the money donated to them to buy the manager a new fancy car rather than to the people in need. One Girl is very truthful about where their funds go. 70% of them go to program expenses, like buying books, pencils, school clothes and scholarships. 18% goes to fundraising, like T.V and radio advertisements, marketing, salaries for staff and posters. The final 12% goes to administration.

One Girl started when they found a 14 year old girl called Brenda on the streets. Both of her parents had died and she lived with her grandmother. Brenda saw her grandmother constantly struggle with her finances. She barely had enough money to buy food and pay rent. Brenda knew an education was the answer to all this so she went to a local school and got a note saying she needed $40 to go to school. She had to beg on the streets to get the money. She had been kicked, shoved out of the way and abused just because she wanted an education.

Unfortunately there are over 60 million school aged girls out of school, and many of them are denied education just because they are girls. One Girl hopes to get 1 million of those girls in school by 2020. And I think as a school with many girls, it would make sense to donate money to One Girl to help other girls like us get a good education!

Kind Regards,

Ashley.
